QUALITY CODE FOR TRAINING INSTITUTES OFFERING SHORT VOCATIONAL COURSES

The audit focuses on the principles of the quality code for short vocational courses:

1. Due care principle
2. Legal certainty principle
3. Transparency principle
4. Reasonableness principle
5. Reliability principle

These have been converted into requirements for the following subjects:

1. Organisation
2. Teachers
3. Information
4. Contract terms & Terms of payment and delivery
5. Course delivery
6. Examinations
7. Complaints regulations

To participate in the audit you must offer training courses or you have the intention to do so, and can as such be considered a training institute by the Dutch Tax Authorities.

To improve the readability of this form, the term 'course' is used for education, training, workshop, etc. All auditable components should be judged positively in order to qualify for CRKBO registration. Assessment takes place solely in terms of S (sufficient) or I (insufficient). In some instances the outcome may be NA (not applicable). Since NA is equal to S, NA will have no negative impact on the final judgment. To give an example: You offer no examinations; in that case the assessment criteria of subject 6. Examinations are: NA.

Assessment criteria	Does the institute think it complies?	Demonstrated by? (quality assurance manual, terms of payment and delivery, instructions, website, course catalogue, staff files etc.)	Auditor's assessment	Remarks
1.
